THE DEPUTY MINISTER IN THE MINISTRY OF PERSONNEL, PUBLIC GRIEVANCES AND PENSIONS (SHRI BIREN SINGH ENGTI)- (a) So far as IAS officers are concerned, this Ministry, which is their cadre controlling authority, has started compulsory one week refresher courses and 4 week training programmes from 1985-86. The 4 week programmes are in 3 stages in the career of an IAS officer, viz. 6—9 years of service on Programme Implementation; 10—16 years on Management Concepts and Decision Making; and 17—20 years on Policy Planning and Analysis. AH other IAS officers attend compulsory one week refresher courses in one of 25 specialisms relevant to them. In 1985-86, 3, 480 IAS officers were trained. Details of the training of IAS officers abroad and within the country in 1983, 1984 and 1985 are given in the enclosed Statement (See below).

This Ministry is only in charge of organising training programmes for IAS officers for which it is the cadre controlling authority. For IPS and other Class I Service officials, this Ministry is not the Cadre controlling authority and hence does not maintain this information. The respective cadre contra lling authorities would have the requisite information available.

(b) One week refresher courses for the IAS officers are being evaluated I by two outside experts. An interim report received from one of the experts has indicated that the results of these courses are positive.

(c)- So far as IAS officers are concerned, the one week/4 week programmes are obligatory and applies to all IAS officers borne in the various State cadres.

(d) Further steps include more rigid selection procedures; search for the right man for the job; one week workshops on Development Administration for Ministers and the top civil servants to enable them to explore the management interface and streamlining of performance appraisal procedures to improve accountability and impart greater objective to appraisal procedures.
